

ACQUITTED OF WIFE MURDER

MacFarland Immediately Attempts to Wed Miss Bromley, but Plans Are Upset by a Technicality

Newark, N. J., Oct. 18.—Within an hour after Allison M. MacFarland had been found not guilty today in his second trial on the charge of murdering his wife by poison, thus reversing the verdict of the first trial, MacFarland and Florence Bromley, the Philadelphia woman who had figured in his case as author of affectionate letters to him signed "Bunny" went together to the city hall and sought a license to marry, which however, they were temporarily refused, because Miss Bromley who is divorced could not produce a copy of the decree.

The copy will be produced and the license will be issued, it is expected tomorrow.

As the jury announced its verdict in court, MacFarland jumped up and snatched his fingers, then turned and shook hands with his aged uncle, who had testified in the case and with Mr. McDermitt his counsel.

The verdict overjoyed MacFarland and Miss Bromley. They left the court room in high spirits followed by cheering crowds, and drove to the marriage license bureau at City Hall. The crowd followed and from the galleries above the clerk's office it looked down upon the couple as they stood replying to the clerk's inquiries.

The young woman was in court today to testify in MacFarland's behalf, his counsel decided not to call her and rested the case with MacFarland's own story of how he placed cyanide of potassium in his wife's medicine chest with innocent intentions.

At City Hall MacFarland said he was 38 years old, an advertising manager, a widower, and lived in this city. His would be bride described herself as 24 years old, a divorcee, who lived in Philadelphia.

"Let me see your decree," said the clerk.

"I have none," responded the woman. "Then I cannot issue a marriage license," said the clerk.

Miss Bromley said her husband, John A. Dawson, Jr., who obtained a divorce from her in New Jersey for desertion, had never given her a copy of the decree, but she proposed to obtain one and carry out the marriage. The couple left the City Hall amid the cheers of the crowd again and drove away in a closed carriage.

PRESIDENT TAFT WILL VISIT THIS CITY AND NAVY YARD

Will Motor Here With His Family and Make a Speech at Play Ground--Will Inspect the Yard.

President William H. Taft will make a visit to this city on Wednesday, Oct. 23, and while here make an address to the big crowd which is expected will be drawn here by his visit. What is more important is that he will visit the Portsmouth Navy Yard and see for himself that it is absolutely indispensable for the welfare of the United States Navy.

Hon. Horace Mitchell of Kittery, who was in Beverly in consultation with the President Taft on Friday informed the Herald that President Taft promised to visit this city and the Navy Yard on the date mentioned above, on his way through by auto to Poland Spring.

The plans as arranged now are for the President's visit, are for the President to motor over from Beverly with his wife and daughter and Mr. John Hay Hammond and take lunch at the Rockingham Hotel.

Following the lunch the President will be escorted to the Play Grounds where a stand will be erected from which the President will address the crowd which is expected to be a record breaker in size.

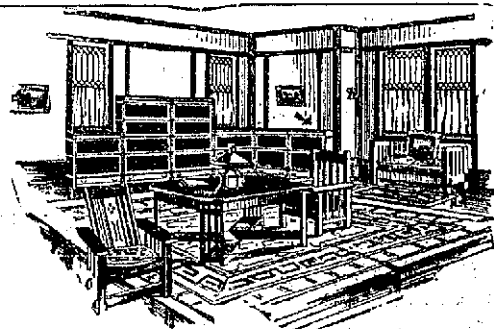

Following the address the President and his party will motor to the Navy Yard where he will be received by Commandant Rogers and given the customary honors. He plans to pass some time about the yard, and will make a thorough inspection of the dry-dock and above all the great natural advantages.

From the yard the President will visit the Pepperell Mansion at Kittery Point the present home of Mr. Mitchell.

It is quite possible that the President and his party will continue east to Poland Spring if the weather is favorable, if not he will spend the remainder of the afternoon in this city and will visit some of the historical mansions here.

The fact that the President is to visit this city will be welcome news to the people of this city and vicinity. His visit to the yard is sure to convince him of its great value to the country.

building at Portland was continued yesterday afternoon in the case of Joseph Saunders and Jesse Hood, Jr., of this city who were charged with stealing metals from the Portsmouth navy yard.

Saunders testified as to having been engaged by a discharged man from the U. S. S. Eagle to carry some of his property from the yard. He said that he waited about some little time while the man was obtaining his pass and that he was in a pool room when the box which he supposed contained the man's personal effects was placed on the wagon.

Shortly after five o'clock he and Hood whom he had promised a ride home drove the team to the navy yard gate where they were halted by the guard who found metal in the box and caused them to be arrested. He said that he knew nothing about the metal being in the box.

Hood testified that he had been promised a ride home by Saunders and that he had waited around until the team started. He did not know what was in the box until he saw it opened and then he was arrested with Saunders.

Walter McDonald a sailor on the U. S. S. Eagle testified that he saw Saunders on the Eagle during the late afternoon on the day that the metal was found in the box but that Saunders had not asked him anything about the man who had been discharged from the vessel.

The guard who was at the gate when the metal was found in the box was the last witness and his testimony was wholly on the time that the arrest was made.

Commissioner Bradley found probable cause against Saunders and fixed bail at $500 for appearance at the next term of court. Hood was discharged.

JACK JOHNSON IN THE TOILS

Charged with Abducting Lucille Cameron, a White Girl

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Charged with the abduction of Lucille Cameron, a 19-year old white girl, Jack Johnson, negro pugilist, was arrested today and released on a cash bond of $500, furnished by himself. He will appear in the municipal court for preliminary hearing Monday.

Johnson was arrested on a warrant sworn to by Mrs. F. Carver Falconet of Minneapolis, Minn., the mother of the girl.

United States District Attorney James H. Wilkerson has ordered a thorough investigation, with a view to government prosecution under the Mann act, prohibiting illegal transportation of women from one state to another.

Late in the afternoon Miss Cameron was served with a subpoena calling her before the federal grand jury to testify against Johnson. She refused to go home with her mother and was taken into custody on a warrant sworn out by Mrs. Cameron Falconet charging the girl with disorderly conduct.

Later Mrs. Cameron Falconet appeared before Judge Owens in the county court and swore to a formal complaint that her daughter was insane. Judge Owens issued a commitment order for detention of the girl at the detention hospital pending investigation as to her mental condition. She was placed on bond of $25,000 by the federal authorities tonight to appear as a witness against Johnson.

District attorney Wilkerson ordered her taken to the federal building where she will be held under special guard until she appears before the federal grand jury next Monday.

The warrant committing her to the detention hospital for examination will not be served unless Jack Johnson succeeds in having her released on a writ of habeas corpus.

Philosopher and His Cat.

When my cat and I entertain each other with mutual apish tricks as playing with a garter, who know but that I make my cat more spoilt than she makes me? Shall I conclude her to be simple that has her time to begin or refuse to play as freely as myself have? Nay, who knows but that it is a defect of my not understanding her language (for doubtless cats talk and reason with one another) that we agree no better? An who knows but that she pities me for being no wiser than to play with her and laughs and censures my folly for making sport with her, when we two play together?—Michael de Montaigne.

It Looked That Way.

When Thomas P. Gore, the blue United States senator from Oklahoma, was in Indianapolis to attend the Marshall notification ceremonies he told a story to illustrate a political point he had made. "Old Abe was a negro in Arkansas who had never seen an automobile until he went to the city on day and was nearly struck by the machine as it went speeding down the street at about thirty miles an hour. The old man jumped to the sidewalk and gazed open-mouthed after the car. 'Oh de good Lawd!' ejaculated Uncle Abe, 'dat man's hosses mus' a beee goin' when dey bruk 'way frum dat kerriage.'" Distinction or Difference?

A group of New Yorkers were lounging on the piazza of a nearby shore hotel recently when a young man wearing exquisite clothes and a vacant stare, passed by on his way to the beach with a young woman on his arm. "You know who that is, I suppose?" remarked one of the party. "Oh, yes," was the reply. "Got a couple of millions, I understand. Just out of college. He was educated at Harvard university, was he not?" "Oh, no," said the first speaker. "He wasn't educated at Harvard. He went to school there."—New York Globe.

WILL BE AT HOME.

Sailors of the Fleet Will Be at Home Ports for the Holiday.

All vessels of the Atlantic fleet are to be at their home yards for the Christmas holidays, according to the itinerary for the ships, just announced by the navy department. Those familiar with the movements of the Pacific fleet believe this to be something of a novelty for it is years since any of the cruisers on that coast spent the holidays at a navy yard.

According to the announced itinerary the vessels of the Atlantic fleet will cruise in South Atlantic waters after the review in New York harbor. After necessary repairs have been made and the steaming tests have been put through at Newport, the flagship of the fleet, third and fourth divisions of the fleet will leave Hampton Roads November 15 for Charleston, S. C., remaining off that port for a week, beginning November 17, then returning to Hampton Roads, from which place as a base divisional exercises will be carried out.

The second division will leave Hampton Roads with the others on November 15, but will continue to the Gulf of Mexico, making the following visits: Pensacola, November 22 to 26; New Orleans, November 27 to December 4; Galveston, December 5 to 10.

From Galveston the division will return to Norfolk. About December 15 all of the divisions will return to their home yards for the Christmas holidays.

CADILLAC CO. BUILDS AND MARKETS 12,000 CARS ON SCHEDULE.

Significant Evidence of Production and Sales Efficiency.

It is a difficult matter to grasp the significance of an industrial achievement which involves the manufacture and marketing of 12,000 high grade automobiles in one year on schedule time. The lay mind cannot at once appreciate the perfection of system and perfect co-operation necessary to bring this about. The schedule is too big, the figures too large, and the details too multitudinous to understand unless one has been through such a manufacturing campaign and assisted in bringing it to a successful termination.

Recently the Cadillac Motor Car Company finished its manufacturing season. The occasion was marked by the fact that it had beaten by a few hours its schedule for the year. A year ago the executives mapped out their plans to manufacture and market 2,000 Cadillacs. The schedule called for completing that number on June 2, 1912. On that very day at 1 o'clock the last of the 12,000 cars passed through the assembling department, so the year's schedule had two and one-half hours to spare. Plans made a year before, involving this vast undertaking were carried out to the letter, which is excellent evidence of efficiency, both in the department of production and of sales. Only the most rigid and intelligent of systems could achieve results of this nature—results which involve an enormous physical undertaking and exceptional executive ability.

The manufacturing system is too involved and technical to permit of ready explanation, but a glimpse of the distribution idea can be given briefly. When the Cadillac plans for manufacture and distribution were formulated the dealers were each allotted a certain number of cars, to be shipped a monthly installment. The dealer therefore knows just what he can depend upon and sells against his allotments.

This season completes 10 years of motor car manufacturing by the Cadillac Company and this is the fourth year in succession that the company has made an absolute clean-up of its product on schedule time, avoiding the necessity of carrying a single car over into the succeeding year. During the ten years of production the Cadillac Company's output has reached a sales value of approximately ninety millions of dollars.

Manufacturing and sales efficiency is due largely to perfect co-operation and is dependent on no single department or on any special officials. Undue dominance would spoil the unity of the plan, the smoothness of the fast-running machine.

The Cadillac plant is in operation 50 weeks in the year. The other two weeks are devoted to vacations, inventory, overhauling machinery and the like.

After the 1912 vacation the plant reopened on July 13 and work commenced on a largely increased production for 1913.

SCHOOL TEACHERS IN CONVENTION IN MANCHESTER

"Schools were never efficient as they are today," said Calvin N. Kendall, state commissioner of Education of New Jersey in his address at the morning session Friday at the 59th meeting of the New Hampshire State Teacher's association held in St. Cecilia's hall.

"Efficiency in school matters was the theme of his address," Mr. Kendall said that although the schools today are better than ever before still they may yet be improved, and rested first with the teacher, second with the teachers; third the course of study; fourth with the organization of the school; fifth, the school building; sixth, the character of the school board; seventh, the attitude of the community towards the school, or public opinion.

Mr. Kendall explained that the schools of today were not like the schools of 50 years ago. The foreign born children has forced new responsibilities upon the schools. He spoke of a decay in parental rule and said the mother of today and the mother of 40 years ago were much different. He said that too much was left to the school that the parents should do. To determine school factors rested largely with the teacher. He made reference to the recreation and amusements for children and said in his judgment nothing was more distressing than a child old before his time, and advocated the childish interrogation point, asking or questions. He also spoke of the summer schools.

The Rev. J. W. Smith of Westminster Presbyterian church opened the session with devotional exercises. The first address was made by Jenny B. Merrill P. D., former supervisor of Kindergartens of New York city.

A double quartet of Manchester's best talent composed of, Mrs. Annie Gilks Cheever, Miss Florence Kidder, Miss Maude E. Browne and Miss Maude Moore, and the male voices of A. Gale Straw, Morris Blake, Walter Butterfield and Eugene F. Clough filled the large hall. Teachers from all parts of New Hampshire being present.

The meeting adjourned at 12:45 and the afternoon session was held at 2 o'clock. The principal address being made by Woods Hutchinson, A. M. M. D., lecturer and writer, whose subject was "Fresh Air in the School Room and Everywhere."

NEW YORK NATIONALS DON'T WANT TO SHARE PROFITS

New York, Oct. 18.—Trouble over the resolution passed by the National League last winter compelling the club participating in the World's Series to hand over 25 percent of its share of the receipts to the other clubs came to a head yesterday during the session at the Waldorf-Astoria.

Pres. John T. Brush of the New York club said word that in his opinion the resolution was illegal in that the league had no right to interfere with the private affairs of any club. Mr. Brush requested the appointment of an arbitration committee to which the resolution will be referred.

B. J. York of Brooklyn will represent the league on this committee and Cornelius Sullivan will act for the New York club. It is possible that

Gov. Tener of Pennsylvania will be the third member.

The resolution was introduced last winter by Barney Dreyfuss of the Pittsburgh Club and was passed by a majority vote. Which Mr. Brush's message was received there was same show of ill-feeling by several of the magnates, and the report soon became prevalent that unless Mr. Brush backed down serious opposition to the reelection of Pres. Lynch might result.

The American League also passed a similar resolution, but it is said that the St. Louis Browns will be cut out of a share of the spoils for the reason that in post-season games between the Browns and Cardinals the National Commission has not been called upon to exercise the usual authority.

PLEADS IN VAIN.

"Punk" Norton Sentenced to 20 Years for Killing His Chum.

Augusta, Me., Oct. 17.—"As God is my Judge, your honor, I had no intention of shooting my chum. It was purely accidental. He helped me many a time. If I had intended to shoot him I had better opportunities than that. I don't believe I'm gone beyond redemption yet and I told you the facts of the case. I had no more intention of shooting him than I did myself."

Such was the plea of Edward Norton of Concord, N. H., just before Chief Justice Whitehouse of the Supreme court imposed a sentence of 20 years in the State prison upon him today for the shooting of Patrick Lacy of William, Conn., in this city Aug. 8.

The jury returned a verdict of guilty of manslaughter after being out two hours.

The President's Great Speech for the Navy.

It is to be regretted that every American Congressman and that every American voter who makes a Congressman could not have heard the speech made at the naval banquet in New York Monday night by the president of the United States.

There was not a trace of politics nor a suggestion of self-interest or demagoguery in the president's remarks. Mr. Taft was perfectly simple and absolutely sincere. He was at his best. His speech was an expression of clear-cut, level-headed, red-blooded Americanism which should appeal to every citizen.

The president's plea for a larger navy was powerful in its earnestness and simplicity. It was based upon the policy of a national insurance against war and commercial disaster, upon the necessities of the Panama Canal, upon the safety of the Monroe Doctrine and upon the preservation of our dignity and wholesome respect among nations.

The president's appeal for the continuation of the Congressional policy of two battleships a year was convincing in its common-sense and logic.

The heartiest, most unanimous and most spontaneous applause of the evening was given by that great and remarkably representative audience to this portion of the president's speech.

President Taft never made a better and more effective public speech. It was at once reverent and prophetic in its forecast of peace and arbitration and resolute and aggressive in its demand for preparedness until the day of universal peace shall come.

Speeches like this rouse every citizen to new pride and loyalty to his country, and to new respect and confidence in the chief executive of the Republic.—Boston American.

The Springfield Republican remarks if the long-delayed plan for a German embassy in Washington is carried out with the magnificence now contemplated, congressmen will be given an object lesson which may make easier an appropriation for providing our ambassadors abroad with houses. The pattern, however, will hardly answer, if it be true that the architects intend to reproduce on a smaller scale the famous imperial palace Sans-Souci at Potsdam, which dates back to Frederick the Great and reflects Germany's meek acceptance of the formal French renaissance art of the day. But the White House might, perhaps, furnish suggestions for a type which would appropriately represent America abroad and which would not discord with the architecture of foreign countries.

The Indianapolis News says in a sense of co-operation in Germany is more encouraging for us in America than English co-operation, because it is a smaller and of a younger growth, and can be more easily traced. It began with the co-operative bank fifty years ago. This was simply for savings and credit. The town banks now number 1,200 with 600,000 members and an annual turn-over of credit of $750,000,000. The country banks are more like what we know as the primitive building associations. There are 12,000 of them. Villages have been transformed by them and in the last fifteen years they have increased 800 per cent. Out of the credit established by these banks sprang the co-operative supply system.

A rumor has been current the past week that the new Summit house upon Mount Washington would be much smaller than originally contemplated, and that the plans for the proposed scenic railway up that mountain had been abandoned. There is no foundation in fact for this rumor. It has never been intended to build a large summit hostelry, but the edifice, which will serve also as a summit station for the railway, will be finely appointed and will contain about 100 rooms, which will be sufficient for all the patronage anticipated.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean states that owing to the strict enforcement of a recent rule adopted by the Chicago board of education, requiring boys and girls in the High schools to sign an "anti-secret society pledge," several mothers of girls have taken the astonishing stand that they will withdraw their daughters from school. This rule is a salutary regulation. There is no necessity for a High school fraternity or sorority. Their influence is distinctly bad.

The Philadelphia Inquirer says: And now it is Governor Deneen of Illinois who is a liar. Roosevelt says he is, and, of course, that settles it. The most populous social organization in the country—if not in the world—is the Annapolis Club. Funny isn't it, that the only truthful man in the United States is the more or less Hon. Theodore Roosevelt?

Current Comment.

Naval Enlistments

It is reported from New York that evidently as a result of the impressive display of warships in the North River, several hundred young men have offered themselves for enlistment in the navy, clearly attracted by the splendid showing of the fleet and the smart appearance of the man of warships who have been seen so numerous on the streets of the city. Inasmuch as the navy is now several thousand short in its personnel this is a gratifying result of the review, and it perhaps will be well to assemble the ships at various coast cities to stimulate interest in the navy in the same way and secure similar results. The navy today offers an excellent career for the young man without a trade or a professional opening. It gives the best of the recruits an opportunity for advancement along mechanical lines, and affords a valuable training that has often proved to be capable of capitalization later in the muster out. The discipline on board a modern warship is good for almost any youth. He is taught the lesson of obedience which is invaluable. He learns to be resourceful in emergencies and capable of doing things under stress. He is no longer surrounded by the evils which formerly marked the life of a seaman, even though conditions at sea are not ideal. There is of course much earnestness and roughness in the life of sailors. Sailors are not angels by any means but they are a better class than in the old sailing ship days when a vessel was largely run by power of profanity and abuse and often physical violence. An enlisted man on an American battleship is certain that his rights will be carefully protected, and if he attends strictly to business and shows an aptitude above the average he will be promoted and is assured of a comfortable future provision. The navy service appeals to those who want to see the world who are affected by the wonderment. When the American fleet went completely around the world a few years ago, it gave to several thousand bright young men a remarkable opportunity which they accepted eagerly and which has left a permanent impression on them, undoubtedly in the main, for their benefit. The fact that his country is profoundly at peace with all other nations is probably not the main cause of the recent falling off in enlistments. Very likely the globe circling tour was a factor and not it exhausted the supply of available men, but more probable as a cause is the fact that at this time there is an insistent demand for workmen in all lines of industry and business. Still with the labor market clamoring for workers there are enough young men of an adventurous spirit still available to make a large enlistment showing in New York at this time.—Washington Star.

WITHDRAW MARINES.

Washington, Oct. 18.—Rear Admiral Southernland in command of the American forces in Nicaragua, considers it advisable to begin withdrawing his troops beginning Monday. In a message to the navy department today he announced that after Monday, except for small guards on the passenger trains he would have the National Railway Co. take complete charge of the line. The withdrawal of blue jackets should be completed by Nov. 15, he added.

The admiral reported that a company of mounted bluejackets, who made a trip from San Juan del Sur, on the Pacific coast, to Lake Nicaragua, through a rich agricultural district, was heartily welcomed by the natives who expressed themselves desirous of permanent peace that they might work their farms.

The cruiser Cleveland will leave Nicaraguan waters one week from today and on the following day the Denver will be ready for sea.

LOOKS GOOD IN PRINT

They are talking at the Charles-town navy yard of the good luck that has befallen the Portsmouth navy yard. The cruisers Washington and San Francisco and the gunboat Petrel have been ordered there for extensive repairs. This means there will be more work there and more men with money to spend than at any time for five years past in fact, since 1907, when the cruisers Salem and Chester were there.

The ships came direct from the great naval review at New York. The Washington will be practically rebuilt, and it will require two months to groom up the San Francisco. It is estimated that the 1500 officers and men will spend more than $100,000 during their stay.—Boston Post.

HE'LL GET A WHALE NEXT.

Arthur Smith mate of the large Merrill claims he caught a cod weighing 50 pounds and measuring four feet and nine inches, in the upper Squamscott river at Exeter on Friday. Another feature of Smith's story is that he caught the big cod with his hands. Friday is certainly a good day to spring a fish story and there is no doubt but the next catch that Smith makes in the stream at Exeter will be a whale.

AGENT NELSON HAS SECURED AFFIDAVITS

Regarding the Alleged Cruelty to a Dog at the Navy Yard for Prosecution.

State Agent Howard O. Nelson, of the New Hampshire society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is investigating the reported abuse of a dog by beating at the Portsmouth navy yard. Mr. Nelson said today that he had obtained affidavits and depositions from the principal actors involved in the situation and that these papers will be forwarded to the navy department together with a recommendation based on the result of his blotting. Prominent members of the New Hampshire society say they realize that the navy department often times forgets to move when their action would impel any of those navy department friends so Mr. Nelson in order to cover all ends will also inform the members of the New Hampshire delegation of its finding.

Major David Urich recently defeated for the Republican nomination for senator in the Twenty fourth district first brought the matter to public attention in a communication to the newspapers. There is foundation for complaint. That is admitted by the naval officers but is said that the story was gradually distended as it was passed along down the line. According to the naval officers the dog is owned by naval constructor Bisset of the construction department.

BALLOT COMMISSIONERS RULE AGAINST PROGRESSIVES

Ward One Representative Has to Get New Names--Senatorial Districts Not Affected.

It was pretty near a drawn battle between the republican state committee and the progressive party, as the case stood at the conclusion of Thursday's hearing on the petitions to read the progressive candidates for senator in five districts and representatives in 22 towns and wards of the official ballot to be voted on in the election next month.

Attorney General Martin G. Eastman for Chairman Barton of the republican state committee voluntarily withdrew the objections to the papers filed for senatorial candidates in the senatorial districts in the seventh and twenty-fourth districts and in the towns of Exeter, Lancaster, Lisbon and Chester. Also the former attorney general practically abandoned all of the 11 reasons for objections set forth in his petitions, except three.

On two of these reasons the ballot law commission, after hearing the evidence and arguments of General Eastman and Louis E. Wyman, representing the progressives, decided that the content of the general was well taken that those who voted in the September primaries in towns in which the caucus law of 1905 was in effect were barred from signing nomination papers for candidates of another party and that the certification of nomination papers should be made by a majority of the board of supervisors.

By these rulings the senatorial nomination in the third district will be rendered illegal and the representative nominations in Ward 1, Portsmouth, will also fail as the number of signers with those who voted in the primary stricken off the petition is less than the required 50 names.

The commission reserve decision on the question of the designation of the residence of the signers of the petitions, which in reality is the principal objection and on the ruling of the commission will rule on this question of the petitions in the first and twenty-first senatorial districts will also be heard today, with evidence to be presented by both sides.

The only evidence offered yesterday was that of William T. Entwistle of Portsmouth, a republican nominee for representative in ward 1. He brought with him the check list used in the primary and showed that a dozen or more of the signers of the progressive petitions had voted in that primary. As only the number of signers necessary were in the papers, the elimination of the twelve voided the petition.

For some time my kidneys were out of order and caused my back to become very lame and painful. I finally got so bad that I could not attend to my work. A sudden movement sent sharp twinges through my body. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Phillips Drug Store, came to my relief and I have had practically no trouble from my kidneys since using them. REVIVAL OF ROWING.

Gift of Two Four-Oar Barges to Exeter by Harvard Students.

Exeter, Oct. 17.--The gift to the academy by the Harvard Athletic Association of two four-oar barges and their accessories, recently received and housed in a building on the Plimpton playing field, promises to revive student interest in rowing, in the 70's the major sport at the academy.

One of the barges was given a trial on Exeter river yesterday afternoon by a crew composed of H. P. Magowan, 13, who has had experience in Switzerland, stroke, and three members of the faculty, Joseph S. Ford, who rowed on scrub crews at Harvard, 2; Corning Benton, who rowed on his class crew at Harvard, 3; and Elsieha P. J. Burgess, formerly of the Columbia four and at Göttingen captain of a four, 4; P. K. He Boer, 13, was coxswain.

The rowing will be under the direction of Mr. Burgess. There will be student crews for each barge, who will later meet in competition in some form, whether a race or in tests for proficiency and form is not yet decided.

In "The Quaker Girl" Colonial Theater, Boston.

The absolutely unduplicated triumph of "The Quaker Girl" at the Colonial Theatre, Boston, has caused the management of that theatre to cancel all future bookings for the house and the probabilities are that the engagement will last beyond the holidays. Never before has a musical comedy no matter how great a success, played for the early season business that has been awarded this musical play which is now in its seventh capacity week. All records for September and the Boston public is wild to see this unique entertainment which has the novelty of being absolutely new and refined and yet affords amusement of the funniest sort. Musically "The Quaker Girl" does not need even the press agent's praise of wherever one goes he hears the trying melodies whistled and played. "Come to the Ball" the famous waltz home of the play is fully as widely known as the Merry Widow waltz, and music stores say they are unable to keep up with the demand for copies of H. Ina Claire the wonderful little eighteen year old beauty, who is the Quaker Girl, is a sensation all over Boston and her gowns are being copied widely by society while the demand for autographed photographs of her is tremendous. Percival Knight never before seen in a straight roll proves an ideal lover for the Quaker lass and is winning even greater plaudits than he did as the wooden faced jockey in the Arcadians. In addition to these two featured principals there is a big cast of musical comedy favorites including May Vokes, May Allison, Maude Gay, Peggy Lundeen, Nellie McHenry, Gilbert Childs, Roland Batemley, Lewis James, Arthur Klein, Ruth Lloyd and W. H. Burton. Owing to the tremendous patronage in Boston and the necessitated extension of bookings the Quaker Girl will not be seen in any other city in New England, but will return at the close of the Boston run to New York for a return engagement. The management states that special attention will be paid to mail orders and that seats can be secured by mail four weeks in advance.

NAVAL NOTES

Plenty of Work But No Money

The Bremerton navy yard has been notified that the allotment for the month of October for the equipment work at the yard has been cut in half. Consequently although there is plenty of work which needs doing immediately it was necessary to lay off a number of electricians, several of whom had been called only the day before. Twelve electrical workers were laid off the first of the week.

Need of Civil Engineer

Officers for the civil engineering branch of the navy are in demand. Secretary of the navy Meyer is seeking men available for two vacancies to be filled. Applicants are scarce. These officers are selected from engineers who graduate from the naval academy. They are required to take a two year course in the Troy Polytechnic school. At the end of the year's work at the institution the chief of the bureau of yards and docks examines the work of the engineers and determines whether or no they are fitted to receive appointments in the civil engineering corps.

Three ensigns are now at the school, but will not graduate for more than a year. Besides the two vacancies which now exist an additional vacancy will occur upon the retirement of civil engineer Maxon in August of next year.

In case of casualty among the officers of the civil engineering corps the navy department would have no one available to fill vacancies created.

WORKINGS OF THE CAMORRA

How an Englishman Was Politely Molested of $300 by Italian Society.

A poem of rejoicings has gone up in print over the verdict on the Camorra prisoners at Vitorbo, and it is stated--rather previously, I fear--that the great secret society of Italy has been scotched. That Naples will no longer be its headquarters is probable, but it is so widely spread over the whole of Italy that it can be no more killed by imprisoning its Neapolitan leaders than you can kill an octopus by cutting off one of its tentacles. The society has local branches in every town of importance, and it adapts its methods to the status of the people whom it bleeds.

How polite the Camorrista can be a true tale of how an Englishman subscribed to its funds will show. The Englishman in question, a married man, took a house in one of the seaport towns of Italy, not Naples, and brought his English furniture with him. A month or two after he had taken up residence, a very polite Italian gentleman called on him and presented him with a bill for $300 for furniture bought from an Italian firm. The Englishman said that there must be some mistake, for he had bought no furniture in Italy, and his visitor then explained that the bill was the means by which he might subscribe to the local branch of the Camorra, and thus obtain its protection. There was no hurry about the matter, said the polite Italian, and if the Englishman did not care to pay at once the matter might stand over for six months.

The Englishman went to his consul, who referred him to the local head of the police. The local head of the police, talking as an official, promised him every protection if he did not intend to give the money, but as a private individual, suggested to him that $300 was not very much to pay to avoid all the anxiety that was entailed by being in the black books of the Camorra. The Englishman paid his $300 and holds the bill, duly receipted, for purely imaginary furniture--bought from a purely imaginary Italian firm.

CLAIMED FOR NEW YORK CITY

Origin of Popular Expression, "Let Her Go, Gallagher!" Said to Have Originated There.

The expression "Let her go, Gallagher" is in use in nearly every city of the United States, and has traveled to foreign countries, yet it is doubtful if many can tell the origin of it. A group of men recently met in New York city and soon were talking of events that happened many years ago. One of them told the story of "Let her go, Gallagher," and vouches for the truth of it, as he was present at the time it began.

"A number of delegates," said the veteran, "representing the Chicago fire department came to visit the New York fire laddies in the early '70s. They were shown about fire headquarters and inspected the different systems. Then they desired to see some of the crack companies. Their escorts brought them to hook and ladder No. 14, in East 135th street, and while examining the apparatus an alarm was sounded from the West Side. Capt. Henry M. Jones made the visitors jump on the sides of the fire truck and accompany the fire fighters to the blaze.

"Peter Gallagher was the driver of the team, and he quickly got to his seat on the truck. It swung out to the street, and the driver guided the horses to straighten out the ponderous machine. When in a position to take full speed and dash to the place where the alarm was sounded Captain Jones yelled to the driver, 'Let her go, Gallagher!'

"The visiting firemen never forgot the command, and thus began the famous old saying that is in vogue to day."

Human Hair-Nets.

The annual sale of nets of human hair, according to the report of the American consul at Kehl, estimated at 12,000,000.

Hair-nets are made almost wholly in the houses of Alsatian and Austrian peasants; the peculiar skill required to net hair has become in part hereditary.

The children begin first to tie the hairs together, end to end, to make one long hair. Then, with only a round piece of wood about six inches long and one-half inch in diameter and a needle, the older girls and women--and sometimes the men--weave the nets. Each mesh is knotted in much the same way that fishnets or hammocks are made. Only tying a single hair is a more delicate and difficult task than tying a string.

To make a dozen nets is a day's work of ten or twelve hours.

Fact About the Mushroom.

A well-known botanist says that mushrooms might properly be called vegetable meat and used as a substitute for animal food. "It is doubtful however, if this is true," says the American Medical association. "The more we learn of mushrooms, the more it becomes apparent that they are scarcely different as regards dietary virtues from the general run of the green vegetables which have never achieved the distinction of any unique or superior nutritive properties. They belong rather to that large group of food materials which we consume for reasons quite apart from the yield of nourishment which they have to offer to the body."

Tripolitan Home Life.

There is a vivid picture of home life in Tripoli in Mrs. Mabel Loomis Todd's recent volume: "Another day I went to a house of quite different social order, where a poor woman with a crooked spine had asked to see the foreigner. She was sewing at a little machine low on the floor, turned by hand, like those used by Malays, her knees higher than her head—but that was apparently a favorite attitude of both sexes. Flat on the floor lay an old woman sound asleep, merely a neighbor in for a while to take this surprising means of promoting social hilarity. But she wore a good deal of jewelry, was artistically tattooed and, upon waking, showed strong, short white teeth in a friendly smile. The poor little deformed woman seemed pathetically glad to see us and began to talk at once of the coming eclipse, of her fear that it might injure her and that she should not dare to go to the roof to see it; also asking me to use my influence to render it as harmless as possible."

Chaperons for the Young.

Queen Mary is said to have deplored the easy fashion in which mothers have allowed their girls to run about at their own sweet will during the last few seasons. Anyhow the chaperon has been reinstated at girl and boy dances. Of course, girl and boy dances, so called, are for those already out in the world; but the new "flapper dances" are quite a different thing and are given for girls of fourteen to sixteen and their friends. These entertainments are run on the lines that have made them so popular in Paris. Governesses and even nuns have been about if mothers, aunts and their friends are not on the spot. The dances are usually afternoon affairs, and besides the "two step" and "three step" the gavotte and minuet are popular.—The Gentlewoman.

Fighting Tuberculosis.

The Swiss people are determined to do everything possible to stamp out consumption. This summer more children than ever before were taken to "holiday camps," or "holidays colonies," which are generally in some mountain district, at heights of about four or five thousand feet. In the Jura, above the Lake of Biel, there are some of these holiday colonies nearly every mile. Holiday colonies are camps, of course, exist in other districts of Switzerland, but the Jura is one of the favorite places for them. One reason doubtless being that so few foreign tourists go there. The children, who sleep in tents, spend almost the whole time out of doors.

Great Painter's Studio.

Cecilia Beaux, whom most people credit with being the best known woman portrait painter in the world has built herself a remarkable house at Gloucester, Mass. It's such a wonderful house that people write it up and print pictures of it and of the equally interesting garden which runs down to the sea. And yet no one ever seems to think of writing up an equally important place, Miss Beaux's city studio. She paints all winter long in a high place overlooking Grace mercy park. Having the top apartment, her view is unobstructed. There is no ocean to be sure, but it is a splendid studio.—New York Press.

Blarney.

Honest Barney McGuffey, the silver-tongued orator of the Tenth precinct of the Twentieth ward, has just got back. "I hear ye've been over to the old country, Barney," said one of his admirers. "Sure and I have—and 'twas a fine reception they gave me there." "And did ye go to Blarney castle?" "Did that?" "But a foine orator like ye self would never need to kiss the Blarney stone." "Well, that's what I thought, but no sooner had I got into the castle, and before I had time to defend myself, mind ye, the Blarney stone flung its arms about me neck and kissed me."—Kansas City Star.

Had a Ready Comeback.

An Irishman, passing a shop where a notice was displayed saying the everything was sold by the yard thought he would play a joke on the shopman, so he entered the shop and asked for a yard of milk. The shopman, not in the least taken aback, dipped his fingers in a bowl and drew a line a yard long on the counter. Pat, not wishing to be caught in his own trap, asked the price. "Six pence," said the shopman. "All right, then," said Pat. "Roll it up; I'll take it."—Dublin Express.

Banana Flour Popular.

Banana flour specially prepared as a tonic food is making its appearance in Paris. Within a recent period this fruit was but little used in France, and even now its consumption is limited. However, measures are being taken to increase the importation, and it is said that seventy vessels were recently fitted up for bringing the fruit to Europe. Banana flour has a much more extended use in England than on the continent, but efforts are now made to introduce it in France owing to its great nutritious value.

Cost of Ice for Army.

Hawaii furnishes the government with the cheapest ice that is supplied to the army—18 cents a hundred pounds—the monthly consumption being 450,000 pounds. In Chicago the army pays 25 cents, and there are posts where it goes as high as 75 cents and one dollar.

SCARS THAT STAY ON BODY

Though the Idea of Regular Seven Year Change is Right, It Has Its Limitations.

There are people who tell you that everything in the body is changed every seven years, and that there is no part of it which was there seven years ago. This does not mean that we slough the whole thing off at once, as a snake does its skin or a deer its antlers, but simple that the innumerable and tiny atoms which are used by the daily wear and tear are replaced by fresh atoms supplied by our food and drink, which keep the body going, just as coal and water keep the steam-engine at work.

But these changes are so minute and gradual that the form of the body remains the same, although such things as scars take a long time to disappear, and sometimes they remain for life, although they always lose a great deal of their prominence. You may have noticed that if you cut your finger lightly it will soon heal up and the scar presently disappear, just as the marks of a superficial burn will gradually go away; but if the cut is deep the scar remains. This is because it went down to what is called the true skin. Any cuts, stains, or burns on the outer skin are gradually pushed up and worn or washed off, just as the hair on the back of your hand wears off without your cutting it and grows again; but anything that goes down to the true skin, like tattoo marks, always remains.

ROMANCE IN MINING OF TIN

Bolivian Mountains at Present Contribute One-Fifth of the World's Supply.

While Bolivia has copper and gold and other minerals as well as silver, her greatest wealth is in tin. There is as much romance in the mining in Bolivia as in diamond mining in South Africa and gold mining in our own country. Portunes just as large have been made. One man who a few years ago was a prospector now has an income from his tin mines equal to that of the bonanza kings of California or the South African mining magnates. He has recently offered to build a railway line which the government itself did not feel able to undertake.

In all the world last year there were only 110,000 tons of tin produced, and to this quantity Bolivia contributed one-fifth, so the value of her tin deposits can be understood. Some of this tin is mined as high as 17,000 feet. Most of the mines, however, are worked at altitudes of less than 15,000 feet. Tin mining has thus the distinction of location at one of man's most lofty permanent dwelling places as well as beneath the bed of the sea. This opposite extreme is found in the world's oldest known tin mines in Devonshire, England.—Christian Herald.

Saved Comrade, but Lost Life.

A workman sacrificed his life to rescue a comrade who had been overcome by fumes in a blast furnace at Darlington, Staffordshire, England, a few days ago. A man named Hald was descending the furnace on a pulley chain in order to readjust the chain around the scrap-iron lying in a heap of coke at the bottom when another workman saw him fall off the chain just before reaching the bottom. In response to an alarm several men rushed to the top of the furnace. A furnaceman named Jackson immediately placed a scarf over his mouth and went down on the pulley chain. He tied a rope round Hald, who was pulled up. Then Jackson ascended on the chain, but when within a few feet of the surface he called out "Minkie haste, I'm going," and fell backward to the bottom of the furnace. Three workmen named Ince, Darby and Speake made a brave attempt to rescue Jackson. Speake managed in the end to get a rope round Jackson's waist and he was pulled to the top but was already dead.

Tried Trick Once Too Often.

A man of seventy-five, who of recent years had extorted money from charitable persons, in Paris, by pretending to commit suicide, has fallen a victim to his ingenuity. He used to fasten a rope, attached to the ceiling about his neck with an easy running noose. Then, having knocked over the furniture, he would overturn the chair on which he was standing and remain hanging by the rope. Alarmed by the noise the neighbors would rush in and cut him down. After being revived he would depict his state of distress in such moving language that money would be forthcoming for his relief. Later he would repeat the trick in another house, invariably with success. But a few days ago, when he was carrying out the trick, there was a hitch. No one went to his help and he remained hanging, being eventually cut down dead.

GOES BACK TO YEAR 1716

Oldest Structure in Berks County, Pennsylvania, Was Built by Swedish Settlers at That Time.

Douglasville, Pa.—Of much interest to automobilists passing through the Schuylkill valley is the old Swedes house here. The historic structure, the oldest building in Berks county, marks the northernmost settlement in the state of the Swedes, who were the first white settlers of Pennsylvania. The building was erected in 1716 and with the exception of slight alterations stands as it did nearly two centuries ago.

The Swedes who penetrated the unknown wilderness were a part of the colony which effected the first settlement on the Delaware in 1638. At that time this section of Pennsylvania was known as New Sweden. The question of encouraging the settlement of this region by the Swedes had been considered by the king of Sweden a decade prior to that, but his war with the Germans and his subsequent sudden death delayed any nearly ended the project.

A part of the congregation of the old Swedes (Gloria Dei) church which is now embraced in Philadelphia, under the leadership of Andrew Rudman, made an exploration of the Schuylkill in 1701 for the purpose of establishing an inland trading post with the Indians. They found suitable land several miles north of the Manatawney creek, where William Penn, the new proprietor of Pennsylvania, granted them 10,000 acres.

The settlement was named Morristown and the Swedes lived in harmony with the Indians and thrived there long before the advent into the region of the English and German settlers. Their descendants are found in this locality to this day. Some of them, whose names are still perpetuated were Andrew Bankson, Benjamin Burden, Peter Boon, Benjamin Boon, John Justason, Mounce, Jastice, John Cook, Peter Cook, Otto Ernest Cook, Jacob Cullin, Matthias Hulston, Morton Murtis, Peter Yocum and Mounce Jones.

The old house above mentioned was built by Mounce Jones, who had one of the largest tracts under cultivation. It stands on the east bank of the Schuylkill, hidden on all sides by large trees. A road connecting the two highways on either side of the river now passes directly in front of it, from which the old date stone in its upper walls, bearing the date 1716, is easily decipherable. The building is now used as the headquarters of a boat club.

Fried Scallops.

Clean one quart scallops, turn into a saucepan and cook until they begin to shrivel, drain and dry between towels. Season with salt and pepper; roll in fine crumbs, dip in egg, again in crumbs and fry two minutes in deep fat, then drain on brown paper. Serve with sauce tartare.

SUBSTITUTE FOR MEAT

DAINTY MEALS THAT MAY BE ECONOMICALLY PREPARED.

Much Depends on the Proper Furnishing of the Table—Balanced Vegetable Ration Not Hard to Put Together.

Now that the price of meat is so high many are looking about for means to do without it, trying to discover something to take its place. Of course, vegetarianism at once presents itself as a solution of the difficulty, but most people recoil in horror from vegetarianism. They conceive it as boiled cabbage, corn, potatoes, coarse bread, beets, etc. These are the articles of diet they see in imagination upon the table as soon as meat is withheld. But it need not be so. It is possible to devise tempting and tasty dishes for a luncheon or a formal dinner from which meat is altogether excluded. Coarse vegetables, such as those mentioned, need never be served; indeed, many vegetarians hardly ever touch them. Let us think, then, what we shall eat and how to make the table look appetizing.

In the first place, the table may be made to look charming if it is tastefully laid with fine linen, spotless glass, polished silver and dainty china. The dishes which are brought on to the table should contain food dressed and arranged artistically.

It is possible to arrange dishes so that no one knows exactly what he is eating, but thinks it delicious. Instead of giving one vegetable, give several at once, mixed together thoroughly, and covered with dressing or sauce, to make it appear still more appetizing. In arranging these combinations, vegetables or fruits which blend together well must be introduced; also due allowance must be made for the various combinations and proportions of the foods—that is, acids, proteins, carbohydrates, etc., must be balanced as nearly as possible.

Salads of all kinds are beneficial, and fruits are also very good during the hot weather. A delicious fruit salad may be made by mixing together, in a large bowl, chopped oranges, pears, plums, grapes, peaches, apricots, etc., dates, figs and nuts, and pouring this into another bowl, lined with lettuce leaves. Honey should be poured over this and whipped cream placed on top. This, with a couple of peanut butter sandwiches, will make a delicious and sustaining meal.

The following is a delightful salad: Scoop out the insides of several tomatoes. Cut up three or four anchovies into small fragments. Cut up also the centers of the tomatoes. Mix together with a little finely chopped cabbage, green pepper and a flavor of onion. Replace in the empty tomatoes and serve on lettuce leaves.

Cream cheese will be found a valuable addition to many salads. Nuts also may be used freely, both for purposes of decoration and to increase the food value of the salad, since nuts contain the same muscle-forming elements as meat. By trying a number of experiments in the combinations of foods in this way a number of tasty and nutritious dishes easily may be devised.

Jam Rules.

Do not allow tin, iron or pewter to touch the jam, as any of these are liable to spoil the color.

Everything employed in the jam making must be scrupulously clean.

The sugar must be of the best.

The fruit must be gathered on a dry day, any that is imperfect or damaged being discarded. It should be just ripe.

The jam should be boiled until on dropping a little on a plate it jellies. Jam should be boiled fast to preserve the color of the fruit, and kept well stirred.

All scum must be carefully removed as it rises.

To Cleanse Fine Lace.

Here is a recipe for cleansing laces which an old lace-maker who has woven many a gossamer web for the great connoisseur and lover of laces, Mme. Modjeska, gave to her pupil and patron: Spread the lace out on paper. Cover with calicheo magnesia place another paper over it and put away between the leaves of a book for two or three days. Then all it needs is a skilful little shake to scatter the powder, and its delicate threads are as fresh and clean as when first woven.

Renovating Shades.

One renovates her window shades that have become cracked and broken by laying them flat on the floor and painting them with ordinary oil paint bought at any hardware store in small cans.

One side is painted and let to dry thoroughly before the other side is touched. This treatment preserves the shades and makes them last for many years.

Oxford Salad.

Small leaves of lettuce, three to each guest. On each a slice of orange cut not too thin. On each slice of orange place a strip of canned red sweet pepper. Over all pour a dressing made of the juice from ends of oranges, a little of the pepper liquor and plenty of salt. Very pretty and so good.

Egg Lemonade.

Beat two eggs until light, add two level tablespoons of sugar, the juice of half a lemon and three quarters cup of cold water. Beat well and strain.
